Mayor Hewitt sent a letter to Lew Dockstader on Friday, acknowledging the receipt of the money taken in at the matines given at Dockstader's Theatre on Thursday afternoon for the yellow fever fund. the letter the Mayor said :

I acknowledge the receipt from you of the sum of $404, being the gross proceeds of the matines given at your theatre yesterday afternoon, in aid of the unfortunate yel-low fever sufferers in the South. I am sure that our fellow-differs will join with me in thanking you and those who contributed their services for the generous action which has resulted in adding so large an amount to the fund which is being raised in this city for the people of Florida in their great calamity. I am assured by Mr. Schumacher, chairman of the local committee, that they are now feeding 12,000 people, who have no other means of support except what is derived from their fellow-counmen. I trust that the amount will be steadily in-men. I trust that the amount will be steadily in-men. MRS. JAMES BROWN POTTER'S RETURN.

PLANS FOR THE SEASON AND SOMETHING ABOUT HER NEW GOWNS AND JEWELS.

Mrs. James Brown Potter returned from abroad yesterday on the French steamship In Champagne. Mr. Abbey, Marcus Mayer, Charles Schroeder and C. F. Matthews were out on the Bay all the night previous in Jordan L. Mott's yacht Puzzle, waiting for the steamer, but when she did arrive she steamed contemptuously by them and they had to follow her to the dock. Kyrle Bellew and Mr. Potter went out yesterday morning on the rovenue cutter, though, and were the first to greet Mrs. Potter. The vessel was docked about 7 o'clock, and then Mrs. Potter was greeted by a host of friends and relatives, foremost among them being her father, Colonel Urquhart. After a short delay she was conducted to the company's Republican Club, Ninety-ninth-st, and Tenth-ave. Speak-office on the pler, where the reporters were awaiting ers: Frederick G. Gedney, Abraham Gruber, Henry L. Mrs. Potter seems much improved in health, length wrap, which Worth designed or her and named after her also. It was of brown civia, of the tabero pattern, with a yoke collar filled in with passementerie nd edged with gold lace. A hate of brown felt trimmed with pheasant trings completed the costume. Mrs. Potter seemed greatly embarrassed at first, and turned appealingly to Maicus Mayer.

"What shall I say to them " she asked. "Make use of the usual opening," responded Mar-Mrs. Potter's face, he added: "Tell them you are glad to get back to America." Mrs. Potter laughed This restored her composure. She then went on to say that outside of a week in London and ten days in Germany, she had spent her summer to France, both in resting and in preparing for her season here this winter. Her studies had been devoted to "Antony and Cleopatra," under, the supervision of Mrs. Dallas Glyn, the celebrated English actrees. "I have purchased a great many beautiful costomes, too," she added. "Five of them are for I wint Axe and Grown,' two for 'She Stoops to Conquer,' and one remarkably beautiful one for the parting scene in 'Romeo and Juliet.' It was designed by John von Biers, and is made of white silk drew B. Humphrey and Henry Gleason. in the Venetian style. I also had new dresses made for 'The Lady of Lyons' and 'Hero and Leander,' which plays will be included in my reportory this season. My costumes for Chepatra I did not bring with me, as they are not yet ready. You see it takes four months to make my lewels for one costume alone. They are the handsomest of the kind ever made, and will cost me 9,000 francs. I open my New York engagement me in Antony and Cleopatra, but open my season October 9, in Philadelphia, in 'Twixt Axo End Crown.' In the meantime I shall remain at Tuxedo, but will come to New-York every day for rehearsals."

THAT "FIGHT TO THE DEATH" LETTER. A QUEER DOCUMENT TO BE WRITTEN "IN THE

SENATE IN THE MIDST OF A DEBATE. We printed vesterday, from "The Congressional Record," a short speech made by Mr. Vest, in explana-tion of a letter written by him, in which the following language occurred:

"Mr. Cleveland, by his message, for which I sin-crety honor him, has challenged the protected in-dustries of the country to a fight of extermination.

The fight is to the death."

dustries of the country to a fight of externination. The fight is to the death."

Mr. Vost, interregated by Mr. Sherman, admitted the genuineness of the above as an extract, but protested that it was a portion of a private letter not intended for publication. He said:

"There is a club in St. Louis which, fortunately or unfortunately, bears my name—the 'Vest Democratic Club." Some time since I wrote to an intimate friend, bir. Charles M. Napton, who happened to be secretary of that club, not specially on any political matter, but in regard to some matter of business about which he wrote me, in which letter he asked me generally about the campaign, as the constituents of Senators generally do. I wrote him a letter—it was written hurriedly, without any idea that it would ever be published, or that it would ever be subjected to any public criticism—but I wrote it as one confidential friend would write to another. As a matter of course I can say frankly that I am not an idiot, and that the Democrate party would not, in the teeth of its platform and of the public and private expressions of all its members, attack the Industries of this country."

Further along Mr. Vest said the letter was written here in the Senate in the midst of a debate. It was, I how, then, does it happen to be in type-writing, the careful pen and ink emendations and signature? I have seen the document as received by Mr. Nappen. There are just few lines of "private matter" it, and two of those are occupied with an acowledgment of Mr. Napton's letter to him (Vest). Yest then goes on and occupies a page and a half type-writing in saying.

Mr. Yest then goes on and occupies a page and a half of type writing in saying:

"I sincerelly hope that your club may be made permanent and that its membership may be largely increased. While there is no possibility that Missouri will fall be give her electoral vote for Cleveland and that its membership may be largely increased. While there is no possibility that Missouri will fall be give her electoral vote for Cleveland and the protected for an expensive fact of the continued. We are entering upon a most fearful Presidential contest, the most important since that of 1800. Mr. Cleveland, by his message, for which I sincerely honor him, has challenged to be protected industries of the country to a fight of experimination. The men who are accumulating immense fortunes under the many and industry will accessed from the protected industries of the country to a fight of experimination. The men who are accumulating immense fortunes under the many and industry will accessed from any and industry will accessed from a protected industries of the country to a fight of experimination. The men who are accumulating immense fortunes under the protected industries of the country to a fight of experimination. The men who are accumulating immenses for the protected industries of the country to a fight of experiment and the protected for the country to a fight of experiment and the protected for the protected for the country to a fight of experime fight is to the death, and we would be idiots to ignore this. Very respectfully,

G. G. VEST.*

It will be observed that in his speech in the Senate Mr. Vest says, in effect, that he is not an idiot, and therefore not a Free Trader, while in his letter to Mr. Napton he says, in effect, that Democrats who try to ignore or disguise the free-trade issue are idiets. Mr. Vest's powerful mind seems to run largely to idiots.

Workingst., and at the headquarters of the Irish-American Anti-Cleveland and Protective League, No. 174 Fifthave., has placed both these organizations on a solid basis, and the work of winning Irishmen over to the Republican platform is now going forward in a manner that bedes well for Harrison, whom the leaders claim is certain to poll a larger vote in the city than James

At No. 141 Eighth-st., Captain P. H. McNamee, the president, informed a reporter of The Tribune that they had secured the services of J. F. McCarthy, an expert accountant and a well-known Irish-American Nationalist in this city, who will remain permanently at the headquarters from now until election day. Mr. McCarthy has already written out lists of the members of the twenty-one clubs that the organization has already established throughout the city. One of candidate for Governor. The voting for Governor so these lists has been given to the Republican National far places Warner Miller far in the lead. The voting Committee to show that honest, efficient work is being done, and the other, to which large additions are being made each day, has been filed for reference at headquarters. Captain McNamee reported that fourteen of the twenty-four Assembly Districts are now provided with permanent local headquarters, with a transparency erected in front of each. By the end of the week he hopes that all the districts will be thoroughly organized.

The Executive Committee of the Anti-Free Trade League met last evening at No. 141 Eighth-st., A. L. Morrison presiding.. The presidents of the various clubs were on hand, and each of them made encouraging reports. Sergeant Johnson, a member of the 69th Regiment, announced that outside of the work of winning over many of the rank and file of that body, he has organized a flourshing club, established a local headquarters, and erected a transparency at No. 4 Jane-st. He has already an enrolled member ship of one hundred and seventy, and after the public meeting which he intends to hold Thursday ev he is confident of a large increase in this number. Captain P. J. Howe, representing the XIth Assembly District, has taken Central Hall for his local headquaters, Nos. 147 and 149 West Thirty-second-st. He, too, is connected with the gallant 69th, and is a good organizer. His roll of membership contains one hundred names, and he intends henceforth to have public meetings once a week, beginning on Wednesday evening. P. J. O'Sullivan has hired No. 264 East Broadway, in front of which a handsome transparency will be put up. James Fox, of the INth, reported that he had secured No, 120 Christopher st. for headquarters. He has enrolled ninety members and will give the Irishmen of the district a chance to John Devoy presided yesterday at a meeting of the Irish-American anti-Clevoland and Protective League, at No. 174 Flith-ave. He reported that in twenty of the twenty-four districts there are now permanent local headquarters, with a transparency in front of each. Lovid J. Naughton, Judge Advocate of District Assembly No. 49, Knights of Labor, says, in behalf of the XXIIId District, where he dwells, that the headquarters is at No. 1,895 Flith-ave, and that there are already enrolled over 300 names. For the Hd District a hall has been rented at No. 22 New-Bowery and a handsome transparency put up. Niall Breslin is the president of the XVIIh District Club, which has a permanent meeting place at No. 237 Taird-ave. Third-ave.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the ARL-Poverty Society in Madison Square Garlen last evening. Dr. Jeremish Coughlin presided. Dr. McGlynn, in speaking on the political situation, said:

"The United Labor party has decided to but thre electoral tickets in the field. The first will be a straight United Labor party ticket; the second will name thirty-four Republican electors and two United Labor electors at large. and the third will name thirty-four Democrats and two United Labor electors at large. This will give our mem-bers a chance to place themselves on record as in favor of the United Labor party and at the same time vote for free trade or protection. I am convinced that as long as the present economical conditions continue, protection is an absolute necessity. I shall therefore vote the ticket for Warner Miller and the thirty-four Republican electors, and I can safely predict that nine-tenths of th party will yote the same way."

SUCCESS OF THE ANTI-POVERTY FAIR. BRIGHT EYES AND PRETTY FACES WINNING

DIMES AND DOLLARS FOR THE FUND. Seldom has there been a happier or jollier lot of people than those upon whom the electric lights of on Square Garden sparkled last Saturday night at the Anti-Poverty fair, and there has seldom been a better opportunity for seeing what the real working men, women and girls of this city are when the toll men were there of all classes, each adding his nickels, dimes and dollars toward the abolition of poverty. There were lawyers and doctors, ministers and professors, engravers and blacksmiths, mechanics and masons, day laborers and car drivers; in fact, people from all the trades, professions and occupations to which the members of the United Labor party belong-The Murray Hill girl who spends dollars on her attire where the daughters of these people spend pennics, might have been envious of the pretty and healthylooking young women who had charge of stands and booths, and, with no apparent effort, enticed many a dollar from the pockets of their fathers, brothers and lovers for the fund.

As in all fairs, there is much voting going on for the most popular lady, bachelor, hardest worker and for him has been a popular one; no man has put in more than one ballot, while friends of Governor Hill have bought up a large number of ballots for political effect. This has not lessened Mr. Miller's popularity by any means and he will head the voting at the close. The young women seem to take a great interest in politics, and the Republican button and flag is worn by many. The fair has so far been a great success. On Saturday night the building was packed until the hour for closing came. It will continue through the week and will end with a jubilee next Saturday.

McCarthy, a mile runner; W. Philbs, a half-mile runner, who beat C. M. Smith, of the New-York Athletic Club in August; Patrick Kenhow, champion at the standing hop, step and jump; D. Shannahan and P. Looney, running hop, step and jump; and T. M. O'Connor and J. and M. Connery, high and pole jumpers. The team will give an exhibition in this city on Saturday."

HERREWS JOIN THE FAITH-CURE CAMP. The closing Sunday meeting of the Faith-Cure en-campment, which was opened a month ago in Greenville, near the New-York Bay shore, was held ves terday afternoon in the Mount Zion Sanctuary. The exercises were conducted by Sister Jackson, assisted by Brothers Jackson and Hancox. The attendance was unusually large, and more enthusiasm was mani-fested than at any of the former meetings, but there were no baptisms. Brother Hancox said that since the opening of the campmeeting between 80 and 100 converts had been baptized, and an equal number anointed and cured of their body affments, while the hospital was full of patients awaiting the coming of the Lord to be cured of their afflictions. Among those who gave testimony of the power of faith was Miss Resenfeldt, a Jewess.

She said that her sister was converted about three months ago and professed Christianity, much to the displeasure of her husband, who quarrelled with her continuously since then up to last week, when he too was converted. Miss Rosenfeldt herself was converted through a dream. She had been convinced verted through a dream. She had been convinced for some time that there was something wrong about her religion, and one night she prayed until nearly morning and then had a vision. A bright light appeared in her room and she saw on the wall the words, "Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and you shall be saved." Now she fell that she is saved, and she asked the prayers of the faithful for the whole Jewish race, that they might be saved.

PROVIDING WELL FOR YOUNG MEN. The Twenty-third Street Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, at Twenty-third-st. and Fourth ave., has just issued its annual prospectus, showing many additions to the already long list of attractions offered to young men. To those inclined to menta improvement, the library, one of the largest in the city; the reading-room, with all the leading periodicals; the literary society, the courses of practical and health talks by leading business and professional men; and particularly at this season, as they are beginning, the evening classes in German. French, Spanish, phonography, typewriting, bookkeeping, writing, arithmetic, mechanical and freehand drawing. and vocal music will prove specially attractive sociability and recreation are not overlooked, as is evidenced by reference to the members' parlor, memevidenced by reference to the members' parlor, mem-bers' monthly meetings, mentily eptertainments and excellent lectures and reading courses. The finely appointed gymnasium, with bowling alleys, baths, etc., in charge of fully competent physical examiners and teachers of gymnastics, and the athletic grounds and boat houses—formerly occupied by the New-York-Athletic Club—on the Harlem Liver make a most ample provision for the boully exercise needed by all young men. The rooms are open from 9 a. m. until 10 p. m. every weekday, during which time members and officers will gladly give full information regarding the association.

A TRAMP IN IMPROVED CIRCUMSTANCES.

Hugh Edward McKenzie, a tramp who appeared half a year ago at the farm of William Johnson, near New-Brunswick, N. J., and obtained work and the opportunity to woo and win Ella, the farmer's daughter, received a visit yesterday from a man who said he was his brother and wanted to take him back to his people, who were well-to-do residents of Glasgow, Scotland. This partially corroborates McKenzie's stoy which appeared in The Tribune at the time. McKenzie, it will be remembered, though apparently a tramp, said he was the youngest son of a wealthy Glasgow mcrchant, and that he was one of the heirs to his father's property. He had run away from home with a college chum, and after spending all his money in New-York, had begun after spending all his money in New-York, had begun to tramp it. While at the Johnson farm he received remittances from New-York.

For several months McKenzie has been living at Plainville, having married the Miss Johnson. His brother, who called on him yesterday, said that his father was a Glasgow merchant and he had an uncle in the commission business in the West Indes. He had learned through papers sent by their New-York correspondents of the story his brother told and had come to find him.

The ladies seem benefited by the great change from the city. Dr. Rosman and wife, of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Lamont are of the party.

Archbishop Corrigan yesterday laid the cornerston of the St. Joseph's Hospital building in Yonkers, a large number of priests from New-York and Westchester County assisting in the ceremonies. An address was delivered by the Rev. James J. Dougherty, of New York, and music was furnished by the Catholic Protectory band and a choir of twenty-five voices. The hullding will be of brick and stone, with three stories and a basement. The hospital will accommodate about 100 patients and will cost about $150,000.

THE COMMANDER'S LAST SURRENDER. London, Sept. 23.—A dispatch from Madrid an-nounces that General Bazaine died in that city to-day. The cause of death was heart disease. He had been ill for several days. The funeral will take place to-morrow.

François-Achille Bazaine was born February 13, 1811, at Versailles, of a family known if not distinguished in the military annals of France. Graduated from the Ecole Polytechnique in 1831, Bazaine at once entered active service and was stationed in Africa during the following year. Four years later he had become a lleutenant and had won the cross of honor on the field of battle. In 1837 he was drafted in the Foreign Legion and served with it during two campaigns in He was made lieutenant-colonel in 1848. the outbreak of the Crimean war he was placed at the head of the infantry brigade formed from this corps, and the records of the siege of Sebastopol are illustrated by his bravery and skill in organization. He commanded the force which took Kinburn in 1856.

In 1862 General Bazaine was sent to Mexico at the head of the infantry division of the expedition, soon succeeded Forey as General-in-Chief, distinguished himself in the battle of San Lorenzo, entered the City of Mexico at the head of the advance guard, and received the unconditional surrender of Oaxaca in 1865. By a decree of September 5, 1864, he had been made a Marshal of France. In 1867 he returned to Paris and in 1869 he was made commander of the Imperial

At the beginning of the Franco-Prussian w Marshal Bazaine was in charge of only a single arm corps, but when the disasters of Woerth and Forbac obliged the French Emperor to abandon the idea leading his own forces, he succeeded to the command of the Army of the Rhine. To concentrate his troops with those of MacMahon and to reorganize the army, it was necessary that Bazaine should fall back upon Metz and Verdun. The battle of Borny, on August 14, 1870, interrupted the execution of this The Prussians then brought on the battle of Gravelotte, prinsin as to the justice of hazine's sender of Metz was not only judicious, but hevitable. It is apparently true that during the last weeks of the investment there was great suffering among the French soldiers. More impartial judges differed in their views. "The London Times" pronounced the verdict just, "The Telegraph' declared that the Narshal was a victim to national vanity, and "The News" hoped that in view of the conflicting testimony the sentence would be commuted to perpetual exile or imprisonment. The historian Naemann, to account for Bazaine's conduct at Metz, conjectures that he desired to play a political role in connection with his military command. Wellinformed and candid men generally unite in believing that the Marshal was guiltiess of a deliberate purpose to shipwreck his country, and that his worst fault was his incapacity to see that in the autumn of 1870 loyalty to Napoleon was treason to France.

Henry Suydam started in business when a young man as an importer of teas, coffees and wines, with Colonel Reed, of this city, who is now about eighty years old, under the firm name of Suydam & Reed. They both accumulated large fortunes and retired from business about forty years ago. From that time until his death Mr. Suydam has occupied his time with intellectual pursuits. He was a good landscape painter and hept a studio for his own amusement until he was eighty years old. He was the author of many essays on scientific and theological subjects which were printed for private distribution. The winters during his entire life were spent in this city and the summers at his country home at New-Hamburg, where he had a country house long before the New-York Central Rallroad was built. He outlived all his brothers and sisters. One brother, James Suydam, was a well-known of Design is largely due, and he left it $100,000 when he died some years ago. In 1835 Henry Suydam married Miss Reese, of Philadelphia. They had four children. One died in infancy and another, a daughter, at the age of twenty. Mrs. Suydam died a few years The remaining two children are living in this One is the wife of Dr. F. Le Roy Satterlee, of No. 21 West Nineteenth-st., and the other the wife of Dr. Fancuil D. people, but always did it in such a quiet and un tatious way that none but those that were helped ever knew anything about it. It is sold of him that he never refused to help any one who asked for help, and not only would be help them when they asked for it, but he took pains to inquire into their chromstances, and on finding that they were deserving, he would continue to give them assistance. He was a life director of the Bible and Tract societies and was connected with a great many other societies of a like nature. At one time he was a warden of the Church of the Ascension, at Fifth-ave, and Tenth-st.

As a mark of the high respect in which he was held by the people among whom he lived for a large part of his life, when his body was carried through New-Hamburg. LUDLOW McCARTER.

Ludlow McCarter, one of the most prominent law ers and politicians in New-Jersey, died yesterday at his home No. 96 Clinton-ave., Newark, age forty feur. He had been sick with pneumonia for only a few weeks. Mr. McCarter was born in Green Valley, Morris County, N. J., and was graduated from Newton Collegiate Institute. He was admitted to the bar in 1869 and practised for two years in Newton, and then removed to Newark, where he also engaged in politics, acting with the Democratic party. 1879 he was appointed Law Judge by Governor McClellan and held that position until 1885, when Judeg Kirkpatrick succeeded him. During his In-cumbency, Judee McCarter was a terror to evil-doers and was noted for the severity of his sentences. At the har he was rated as a good lawyer and an able DEDICATING A CHURCH IN ORANGE The newly completed Hillside Presbyterian Church,of range, N. J., was formally dedicated yesterday morning. The services were conducted by the Rev. Stanley White, pastor of the church, assisted by the Rev. George S. Webster, of East Orange, and the Rev. Dr. Erskine N. Weite. The music was by the choir of the church. The floral decorations were highly artistic, and were composed chiefly of wild flowers. In the evening a praise service was held, at which the Rev. Dr. Aifred Yeomans, of the Central Presbyterian Church, Orange, made an address of congratulation on behalf of the pastors of the Oranges. The church was crowded all day.

A YOUNG WOMAN'S SERIOUS INJURY. The woman, Rosie Healy, who fell, jumped or was shed from the attle window of No. 79 Oliver-st. on Saturday night, lay in a critical condition in the Chambers Street Hospital yesterday. The police of the Oak Street Station believe that the woman, while inexicated, stepped out on the attic roof and fell to the street. The intured girl is twenty-two years old.

SENSITIVE ABOUT THE PRINCE.

A WOMAN PROTESTS AGAINST A SERMON. COMMENT CAUSED IN ST. ANN'S CHURCH, BROOK-LYN, BY A LIVELY EPISODE AFTER

THE SERVICE. There has been a ripple of excitement among the members of St. Ann's Church, Brooklyn, during the last week, about an eproode which took place on the preceding Sunday, and in reference to which those members of the congregation who were aware of it have since maintained a discreet silence

The Rev. Dr. Reese F. Alsop, the rector of St. Ann's, has been holding services for the last three Sundays in a Pittsburg church, and, in exchange, the Rev. John C. White, the rector of that church, has been filling the pulpit at St. Ann's. On the evening referred to, Dr. White made an ailusion to the Royal family of England which seems to have given offence to some of his hearers. Immediately after the benediction had been pronounced and the congregation had retired, as learned from a well-known vestryman of the church, a woman, of medium height and dressed in dark clothes, entered the robingroom, whither Dr. White had gone. Supposing that he was the rector of the church, she confronted him and said: "Dr. Alsop, I wish you to know that I am a British subject, and I do not like the reference you made to the Royal family this evening. I had intended to become a member of this church; but, now that this has happened, I shall never set foot in it again."

Dr. White, taken wholly by surprise, began a reply, saying: "My dear madame, in the first place, I am not Dr. Alsop, and for anything I have said the blame must rest, not on him, but on me.
But, if you will think about the words which I made use of, you will see that no offence was intended."

14, 1870, interrupted the execution of this purpose. The Prussians then brought on the battle of Gravelotte, in which their attack was repulsed by the French that the state of the their attack was repulsed by the formed a line of battle at St. Privid, whence the Prussians drove him back to Metr.

It is generally, though not universally, believed by those familiar with military science that the French might have escaped from their position, but no selecutate attempt was considered in the Prussians through the Empress, and then, on October 25, the Marshal surrendered his army of 160,000 men, with 1,800 pieces of artillery. This surrender was followed by a storm of reprosed from all France, in the mild of which handle because the prussion of the captulation upon the Council of Warter and the provided in Secolet form a more elabourate defence, throwing the responsibility for the captulation upon the Council of Warter and Warter and the Council of Warter and War
